Craig and Senske Pest Control used Fog Force TR with complete eradication of sparrows.

Perseverance really does pay off!

Pest Control Operator Craig Pearsall (Senske Pest Control, Spokane WA), has been working to eradicate a client’s sparrow problem at their home for several years. Sparrows were nesting carport rafters, roosting on railings and windows and causing quite a mess. They had previously tried to repel the birds using noise-making devices with mixed results. While the sparrows were initially frightened by the sounds, they soon grew accustomed to the racket and continued to nest and roost on the property.

He decided to try a combination of exclusion netting and Fog Force™ TR to address the problem. The netting prohibited sparrows from entering protected areas where they preferred to nest. Fog Force™ TR was used in more visible areas to repel birds from roosting on porch railings and window sills. Mr. Pearsall was able to eliminate the client’s worries regarding the smell of the product entering the home. “The Fog Force fragrance works to repel the sparrows without spreading into areas inside the house. Even TR’s installed directly outside bedroom areas created no problems.”

The results pleased a challenging customer with no follow-up calls to address. Mr. Pearsall affirmed, “Excellent results, really good overall. I’ll continue to use Fog Force™ as an integral part of our bird and pest control business. “

Keys to Success:

Timed release application of Fog Force which prohibited sparrows from establishing nests and roosting sites.
